
Lutheran Women's Missionary League

Lutheran Woman's Quarterly

Writer's Guidelines

Lutheran Woman's Quarterly

Official Publication of Lutheran Women's Missionary League (LWML)

Lutheran Woman's Quarterly magazine seeks articles that address contemporary issues from a biblical perspective and demonstrate how women put their Christian faith into action.

Features

These stories and articles often include first-person accounts of God's provision and peace in daily situations. Although features may cover serious topics, they should be positive and reflect the power and love of the Lord.

Interviews, researched subjects, and humorous pieces may also be submitted.

Features usually are one to two magazine pages in length (500–1300 words) and should be double-spaced. Include high-resolution digital photos, when appropriate.

Themes for each issue are selected in advance of publication. Announcement of the theme is made in the issue prior. [Contact your district LWML president for a list of themes for the calendar year.]

Deadline for winter issue – July 1

Deadline for spring issue – October 1 (fall prior to publication)

Deadline for summer issue – January 1

Deadline for fall issue – April 1

Because we operate with a volunteer staff, we are not able to pay authors for their submissions. We do offer a free copy of issues where their work appears.

The content of the magazine must be in agreement with teachings of The Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod. All submitted articles are subject to editorial and LCMS doctrinal review.

Send submissions by email to Editor-in-Chief Sheila Lutz at editor@lwml.org.