

LWML Bylaws — Local Level

BYLAWS

Organizations differ and each local group should write basic bylaws that best describe its structure and method of transacting business. The person responsible for drafting the group's bylaws may contact the zone or district bylaws chairman for help and information as needed. Below are sample bylaws which groups may adapt to fit their particular situations. Articles on object, membership, and parliamentary authority must conform to national bylaws.