Our way seems unclear, our well-meaning friends and loved ones can almost mislead us at times. We have a vision, but they see something different. We strain to hear God’s voice and wonder if we’ve heard Him at all. Focus on God’s Word for it brings clarity and clears the fog of our minds. We can take comfort in knowing that He has laid out the path for us.

Father, thank You for using those times of confusion in our lives to lead us to Your throne of grace. In Jesus’ name. Amen.

Anne Hartman has had a unique LWML experience. Her mother and grandmother were not LWML members. In fact, her church does not even have an LWML Society! How did her involvement in LWML at the zone, district, and even national level happen?

It all began with an invitation from a friend to attend the LWML North Wisconsin district convention as a guest. Anne was intrigued about the LWML and wanted to know more. This same friend encouraged Anne to apply as a Young Woman Representative (YWR) to the national LWML convention in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, in 2003. Anne was chosen, her eyes were opened, and her passion for serving the Lord through the LWML began.

Anne came back to her district energized and passionate about sharing the love of Christ and the mission of the LWML with young women.

Reaching young women and sharing the mission of the LWML continues to be a passion for Anne; she has now served on the district and national levels. Anne stresses that through relationships with one another in Christ, young women see all that Christ does through the LWML.

Have you invited a young woman to an event lately? Please do so! You never know what God has in store for her!
