Lutheran High School (LHS) of Greater New Orleans is the only Lutheran high school in the LCMS Southern District. They have served youth for over 50 years and currently serve students who are disadvantaged, culturally diverse, and unchurched. At LHS they desire their students develop a personal relationship with Christ, learn to be spiritually discerning, and commit to walk in spiritual truth and righteousness. A Christian education is about training children to be disciples of Christ. When they train children in the way they should go (Proverbs 22:6), then they can be in the world (not of the world), serve their fellow man, and work to change it spiritually for Christ, instead of fearing it or being silenced by it.

The Lord opens doors to mission opportunities every day as students attend weekly chapel services and daily religion classes. Their choir sings at local Lutheran churches. The students go out into the community and serve neighborhoods that are in need of hope. The faculty and staff support and expand outreach to the churched and unchurched people who cross their paths.

The percentage of New Orleans students who are economically disadvantaged is greater today than before Hurricane Katrina. As of 2017, 16% of New Orleans 16–24-year-olds were neither in school nor working. There are students in the New Orleans area that will never know Christ crucified or His saving grace unless they are exposed to Him in a safe, caring environment. This grant will provide half of the tuition for one school year for ten students. They are confident the funds will be there for these students to complete their education at LHS. They have discovered that once their parents experience the Lutheran/Christian environment at LHS, their child's education and walk with Christ comes to the forefront and becomes a priority. Lutheran High School changes the lives of students and the community.

Train up a child in the way he should go; even when he is old he will not depart from it (Proverbs 22:6).
