

Pedophiles Count on Abortion Providers to Cover Up their Crimes

Don't try to tell me that abortion clinics aren't staffed by monsters. Perhaps these monsters can be reformed and rejoin the civilized world (like Abby Johnson), but in many cases they continue in their evil lifestyle. We've brought you many cases of abortion clinic malfeasance over the last year, not of just grotesque abortion doctors like Kermit Gosnell, but of the employees who make Gosnell's evil work possible. We've also brought you multiple cases of abortion providers choosing to break the law and not report the cases of young rape victims to the police... those poor children are inevitably assaulted again and again and again... all because the monsters at the abortion clinic wouldn't call the authorities.

In fact so well known are the crimes of the abortion clinics, that other criminals count on them to help them cover up their crimes.

A recent report undertaken by LifeDynamics in Texas found that pedophiles rely on the help from abortion clinics to ensure that their crimes never come to light.

Planned Parenthood & National Abortion Federation Caught In Pedophile Protection Scandal

Life Dynamics Inc. President, Mark Crutcher explains: “In almost every case of adult men having sex with minor girls, the perpetrators are aware that the relationship is illegal and could land them in prison. They also know that one of the most likely ways for them to get caught is for their victims to become pregnant. When that happens, their back up plan is inevitably going to involve abortion. As a result, there is no place within the medical community where underage victims of sexual abuse are more likely to be found than at abortion clinics. The question is: how are these girls dealt with when they show up at those clinics?”

“Among experts who study this issue. It is almost universally accepted that sexual predators who target children almost never stop on their own. Instead, they continue until they are stopped by someone else. In reading the cases you will see incident after incident in which girls continued to be raped and sexually abused – sometimes for years – after the abortion clinic where they were taken ignored the state's mandatory reporting law. But once the situation was eventually revealed to the authorities, the perpetrator was arrested and the abuse ended immediately. This illustrates why compliance with these laws is such an indispensable tool for dealing with our national epidemic of older males sexually exploiting underage girls."

"It is self-evident that when a minor girl seeks an abortion, she represents a textbook example of why mandatory reporting laws were created in the first place. Despite this, we have consistently found that the law enforcement community is functionally indifferent to the problem of abortion clinics not complying with mandatory reporting statutes even in the face of irrefutable evidence that violations are occurring. Among all the cases we researched – whether they are included in this report or not – we never found one example in which criminal charges were brought against an abortion clinic employee for failing to comply with their state's mandatory reporting statutes. This was true even when this failure was (a) noted during the investigation and/or trial and (b) was a direct contributor to subsequent assaults on these children. In some cases, the abortion clinics flaunting of these laws even resulted in sexual assaults being committed against other underage girls.

The abortion lobby is engaged in a pedophile protection racket and protecting pedophiles who rape underage girls. This is an outrage and what is going on here is absolute and utter scandal," Crutcher concludes.

(If you can stomach it, you should read the rest of the report here. The article covering the report also gives numerous examples of abortion facility malfeasance that is instructive in telling us how these abortion providers flout the law.)

The evidence is clear and the facts are laid out for you: the pedophile's best friend is his neighborhood abortion clinic. Yet, we do nothing. Our government and our justice system do nothing to prosecute the lawbreakers at the abortion clinics who allow these young girls to get raped and tortured over and over again.

Not only have abortion clinics been part of the greatest genocide our planet has ever seen – the legal murder of some 60 million children to date – but now we also find that they are part and parcel of a system that allows millions of other children to be tortured by sadistic perverts who rely on abortion providers for anonymity.

American liberals fight tooth and nail to keep abortion readily accessible in our country using their twisted death logic to argue the worth of these “clinics.” But in every case, EVERY CASE, the abortion clinic does more harm than good.

Abortion is our national sin. We are as bad as the Nazis, having allowed the brutal execution of 60 million innocent souls, and now evidence that we’ve also allowed the torture and degradation of millions of other young victims.

Shame on us, America. Shame. On. Us.
