

LUTHERAN WOMEN'S MISSIONARY LEAGUE is a national organization founded 75 years ago. Our congregation has a local society and we belong to a regional circuit of several congregations and the Northern Illinois District of the LWML.

Our local society has been very involved in making quilts, which are blessed at a worship service each Fall and then sent to World Relief and several local social service agencies. Anyone is invited to join the group, to help assemble, sew bindings, or knot the yarn ties. They meet weekly. Call 708-343-1000 to verify times.

Various other service projects are featured each year, as well as the opportunity to join in workshops, spiritual retreats, and Bible Study.

The other main thing that the women do is to collect their "mites," the seemingly little bits of money that added together can achieve great things. National mite grants and District mite grants well over $3,000,000 every two years. These grants help support mission and service projects around the world. You can find out more about these grants and about other activities and resources of the LWML by going to www.lwml.org or www.lwmlnid.org.
