MESSENGER

Going Out on a Limb

As an Iowa farm boy, Robert Schuller remembers how his dad needed every particle of grain from the previous year's crop to feed his livestock. Nevertheless, there was always a little corner of the corn bin he refused to touch. When Schuller said, "Dad, you still have grain in there," his father would reply, "That's next year's seed." And when spring came, he planted it.

Schuller writes: "Suppose he'd studied the odds and said, 'Let's see, I've a kernel of corn. I can feed it to the cattle and I know it'll be productive; there's no risk. Or I can bury it in the ground, but that's infinitely more risky. Weeds could choke it, birds could eat it, it might rot, or hail and winds could destroy it...on the other hand, it just might multiply a hundredfold.'"

God says in Ecclesiastes 11:4 (ESV), "He who observes the wind will not sow, and he who regards the clouds will not reap." In other words, we trust in our faith in God and not our own knowledge or experience. If we wait for the perfect conditions, we will never get anything done.

Helen Keller said, "Security is mostly a superstition. It doesn't exist in nature nor do the children of men as a whole experience it . . . Life is either a daring adventure, or nothing"

If you want to experience an adventure beyond your wildest imagination, you must step out in faith. You need to attempt things that can only be accomplished if God blesses them.

Acting in faith with no "earthly" guarantee of what's on the other side means attempting something you couldn't possibly do unless God gave you the ability.

Jon Walker says: "Faith grows when we take risks—not just any kind of risks, but ones specifically directed by God. These God-nudges push us beyond the borders of our "independent states" into "the promised land" of life by faith."

Jesus says in Luke 19:26 (ESV), "I tell you that to everyone who has, more will be given, but

TRUE PRACTICE OF FAITH

Tithing is a question, not of reason or convenience or what God will do for us, but of faith in God as our Creator and Owner. Tithing involves complete trust in His providential promises.

Altar Guild

Altar Flowers are always, first and foremost, given for the glory of God.

You are invited to a mission experience like no other! Rev. Jeff Mueller, Mites in Action speaker at the LWML convention, and his congregation, Immanuel Lutheran Church, Hood River, Oregon, invite you to a convention-related mission experience through their international children's rescue mission, Child Beyond International. It's virtual! It's free! It's for everyone! from the one who has not, even what he has will be taken away." Whatever God has given you needs to be used in the way and time God wants it used and He will then bless what has been done. On the other hand, if we choose to listen to our own reason, logic, emotion, or intellect, God will not bless our efforts and He will also take away what has been given to us and give it to another.

So, we can follow Jesus or we can continue to wait for the time and place we think is right. The latter will never come.

Christ is risen! He is risen indeed! Alleluia!
Christ has died! Christ is risen! He will come again!

Pastor & Purple Hair

This year's Vacation Bible School's (VBS's) mission is Shoes for Orphans. The children will be asked to bring monetary donations each day. At the conclusion of VBS, that money will be used to purchase shoes for this mission project. To provide some incentive, Pastor Eaves has challenged the VBS to collect $1,000 for this mission. If the goal is met, Pastor Eaves will dye his hair purple. To up the ante, Pastor is inviting members and guests of St. Peter's to donate to this worthwhile mission. Pray for the Holy Spirit to work through our VBS to touch the lives of the children, their families, and their friends. To find out more about Shoes for Orphans go to <https://www.buckner.org/shoes/>.

If you would like to contribute to Shoes for Orphans, please place your envelope in the basket in the narthex. Thank you!
