4-Corners Support Organizations

Four Winds Recovery Center – 505-327-7218: located just outside the western city limits of Farmington. They are a private, non-profit providing treatment services for adults struggling with substance use; including co-occurring mental health disorders. We offer three distinct levels of care: residential treatment, intensive outpatient treatment, and outpatient aftercare. The program serves a varied population from San Juan County, the neighboring Navajo Nation, and other communities within the nearby Four Corners area.
